

Ash + Elm Studios

Because Everyone Has A Special Story

Ash + Elm Studios was born out of a desire to offer high quality photography with a commitment to create portraits that will last for generations to come. The Studio is run by principle photographer, Sharon, who works with a team of very talented photographers who ensure the uniqueness of your wedding day is captured honestly through beautiful photographs. The bespoke studio puts a strong emphasis on quality over quantity.

We are specialists in intimate, country style weddings for loved up couples, working specifically in the Macedon Ranges, Daylesford and Hepburn Shire. Your wedding day is very important to us so each wedding is approached with an aim to capture the connections between you as a couple, in your family and among your closest friends, along with those natural moments that just occur, in a loose, journalistic style.

We love weddings all year round but think winter weddings are incredibly special so we love to offer our couples something in return for being asked to capture your beautiful winter wedding.
